Hereafter referred to as "FAHE, Inc.") is a nonprofit organization based in Kentucky and whose mission is to eliminate poverty in Appalachia, and who provides economic development & lending activities in over 20 states and growing. Fahe was founded in 1980 by the groups that would comprise our original Membership to provide opportunities for housing, finance, and construction training in Appalachia. As a Community Development Financial Institution (CDFI), our lending activities primarily serve low income communities and people with vital access to credit. We have evolved into a highly impactful CDFI with a far reaching deployment Network that includes 50+ Fahe Members serving 100+ communities and an additional 50+ Partners who use our business platforms and/or otherwise collaborate with Fahe in the pursuit of common goals, both within Appalachian and across the nation. Fahe captures the strength of this Network which has been the cornerstone of our lending platforms capable of delivering over $250M a year to support housing and community development in the persistently poor region of Appalachia. Fahe reinvests its enterprise revenues into mission programming that bring solutions and capital to our core Appalachian communities. With major experience in USDA lending programs, development lending, and down payment assistance (DPA) programs, Fahe is thrilled to partner with lenders on our My Place Mortgage DPA program, while expanding our opportunities of partnership both within the Appalachian region, as well as our growing partnership footprint.
